1 . Main points

- Overall retail footfall remained broadly unchanged in the week to 3 August 2025 compared with the previous week and increased by 1% when compared with the equivalent week of 2024; both high street and shopping centre footfall increased by 1%, while retail park footfall remained broadly unchanged when compared with the equivalent week of 2024 (MRI OnLocation).
- Total Revolut debit card expenditure increased by 3% in the week to 27 July 2025 compared with the previous week and increased by 10% when compared with the equivalent week of 2024 (Revolut).
- In July 2025, around one in four (26%) adults reported that they would be unable to afford an unexpected, but necessary expense of £850; this proportion was unchanged from that reported last month for June 2025 (initial findings for July 2025 from our OPN, publishing on 15 August 2025).
- In late July 2025, 32% of businesses with 10 or more employees that had exported goods in the last 12 months reported they were affected by US tariffs in the last month; the most reported impact was businesses experiencing additional costs at 18% (final results from wave 137 of the Business Insights and Conditions Survey).
- The total number of ship visits to major UK ports increased by 2% in the week to 3 August 2025 compared with the previous week but decreased by 8% when compared with the equivalent week of 2024 (exactEarth).
- The number of seasonally adjusted daily UK flights decreased by 1% in the week to 3 August 2025, compared with the previous week, but increased by 2% when compared with the equivalent week of 2024 (EUROCONTROL).
- The System Average Price (SAP) of gas increased by 3% in the week to 3 August 2025 compared with the previous week, while the System Price of electricity decreased by 15% over the same period (National Gas Transmission, Elexon).
- The total number of Energy Performance Certificates (EPCs) for new dwellings across England increased by 19% in the week to 3 August 2025 when compared with the previous week and was 4% higher when compared with the equivalent week of 2024 (Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government).

These are official statistics in development, and we advise caution when using the data. The data sources used to compile these indicators are regularly reviewed to ensure they are representative and relevant, which may mean indicators change at short notice. Read more in Section 5: Data sources and quality.

2 . Latest indicators at a glance

Notes:

1. Card spending over time increased because of the impacts of both inflation on value of transactions and cash-to-card conversion.
2. Revolut adjustments to user count are at an aggregate level and as such age bands may not adjust evenly.
3. Indicators with SA in the title have been seasonally adjusted.
4. Existing weekly EPC data can show sudden spikes when housing associations lodge multiple expired EPCs at once.

4 . Glossary

Real-time indicator

A real-time indicator provides insights into economic activity using close-to-real-time big data, administrative data sources, rapid response surveys or experimental estimates, which represent useful economic and social concepts.

Seasonal adjustment

Seasonal adjustment is the identification and removal of consistent and systematic variation in time series associated with the time of year. For more information on seasonal variation, and how we implement seasonal adjustment, see Section 2 of our Economic activity and social change in the UK, real-time indicators methodology article.

5 . Data sources and quality

Official statistics in development

These statistics are labelled as official statistics in development. Until September 2023, these were called “experimental statistics”. Read more about the change in our Guide to official statistics in development.

We are developing how we collect and produce the data to improve the quality of these statistics. Find out more in our Economic activity and social change in the UK, real-time indicators methodology article.

Once the developments are complete, we will review the statistics with the Statistics Head of Profession. We will decide if the statistics are of sufficient quality and value to be published as official statistics, or if further development is needed. Production may be stopped if they are not of sufficient quality or value. Users will be informed of the outcome and any changes.

We value your feedback on these statistics. If you would like to get in touch, please email realtime.indicators@ons.gov.uk.

Dataset release dates and intended release frequency

Latest release dates and intended release frequency of our associated datasets are available in this section. Please note that there may be some change to the intended release frequency for a variety of reasons, such as data availability. If you would like further information about any of these datasets, or previous release dates, please email realtime.indicators@ons.gov.uk.

Strengths and limitations

These statistics have been produced to provide timely indicators of the effect of developing world events on the UK economy and society. We use close-to-real-time big data, administrative data sources, rapid response surveys, or official statistics in development. The data presented in this bulletin are reviewed and refreshed on a regular basis. Indicators are swapped in and out of the publication based on their suitability and availability.

Seasonality

Seasonal fluctuations are likely to be present in many of these indicators, so caution must be applied when interpreting changes in series that are not seasonally adjusted.
